STRAIGHT-LINE WINDS

Severe weather leaves swath of destruction

DAILY JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Severe weather cut a path of damage across Johnson County Saturday afternoon.

The weather came up so fast local officials didn't get a notification to activate tornado sirens, according to Johnson County Emergency Management Agency (EMA) director Stephanie Sichtung. When the weather turned severe, there was only a thunderstorm watch for the county, she said.

The National Weather Service preliminarily confirmed that a tornado struck Camp Atterbury on Saturday, and officials said straight-line winds were likely responsible for damage reported in Edinburgh.

An EF-0 tornado with estimated peak winds around 84 mph briefly touched down around 3:48 p.m. Saturday at Camp Atterbury. EF-0 tornadoes have winds between 65 to 85 mph, and this twister's path was less than a mile long, according to the NWS.

The steeple of the chapel at the base was blown over and several vehicles were lifted slightly due to the tornado. Plywood debris from the roof of the church was found underneath the tires of the cars, the agency says.

The agency also said there were widespread straight line winds of between 80 to 90 mph that created significant uprooted and broken trees within a wide area along the damage path as well.

While the chapel at the Indiana National Guard base was damaged, the rest of the base is otherwise operational, Lt. Col. Randi Bougere, communications director, said on Saturday. Staff at the base is looking for an alternative location for church services, she said.

The Camp Atterbury tornado was the second of three twisters to touch down in central Indiana on Saturday. Tornadoes also touched down in Brown and Shelby Counties.

The first tornado, also an EF-0, touched down five miles south of Princes Lakes in Brown County around 3:40 p.m. Saturday, lasting for two minutes. The twister had estimated peak winds of 84 mph and traveled for about 0.3 miles along Mt. Momirah Road and Persimmon Ridge Road before dissipating, according to the NWS.

The third tornado, an EF-1 with estimated peak winds of 100 mph, touched down in Shelby County about three miles north-northeast of Edinburgh around 3:57 p.m., lasting for 15 minutes before dissipating four miles west-northwest of St. Paul around 4:12 p.m. EF-1 tornadoes can have winds between 86 to 110 mph, the NWS says.

The twister skipped along its entire 13.7 mile path in Shelby

Members of the Edinburgh Community High School football team, led by coaches Tyler Despain, Paul Palmeter and Bobby Roseberry, helped out local residents on Sunday. They stopped by houses where they saw tree damage and offered to drag the trees, stumps and leaves to the curb. "These young men were a blessing. The coaches and players should be commended for volunteering to help their community in need," said one resident who noticed them working.

County. The damage path had a maximum width of 100 yards in Mt. Auburn, and along its path in the county there were many trees down or uprooted, the agency says.

The NWS also said widespread straight line winds of between 80 to 90 mph created significant uprooted and broken trees within a wide area along the damage path for the twisters.

People on social media reported seeing rotation in clouds near Trafalgar, but there was less damage there than other southern Johnson County towns, said Charles Roberts, Trafalgar police chief. The town got lucky, he said.

The storm intensified quickly and cut a path of damage across southern Johnson County, from Trafalgar to Edinburgh roughly in the path of State Road 252, Sichtung said. However, Nineveh and Princes Lakes also saw significant damage, she said.

Edinburgh seems to be the hardest hit area of the county. The storm seems to be the most severe the town has seen in a while,

Spring events winding down for Lancer teams

As the spring season winds down, the Lancers still had a lot to do in the past week. Varsity softball carded one more win, the tennis team won their final regular season match, baseball finished on a high note as they put a pair of wins against Brown County in the record book, golf had a player place on the All-MHC team in their tourney, and the varsity track team had a nice finish in the Columbus North sectional with one of their runners coming home with a first place ribbon.

Playing at home for the final time this season on May 16, the varsity softball team notched one more conference win with a 7-1 victory over Waldron.

MacKenzie Bieker was the game's winning pitcher, going the distance and striking out a whopping 18 batters out of the 26 she faced. Bieker and Caitlyn Hardman each had three base hits with one of Hardman's a double, Gracie Crawhorn and Kyah Streeval had two hits each with two doubles for Streeval and one for Crawhorn who also crushed a triple on the night. Streeval and Bieker had two RBIs apiece while Hardman and Angel Carman each knocked in one run.

The varsity baseball team didn't fare as well against the Mohawks on Monday as they fell to Waldron, 14-3, in five innings.

Riley Palmeter hit a home run and Ian Buchanan, Caleb Turner, and Nick Detling each had one hit. Palmeter had two RBIs and Detling one RBI. Travis Jones took the loss on the hill allowing three earned runs and striking out seven.

Varsity tennis was at home one final time for the spring. They easily defeated Brownstown 4-1 to finish up with a stellar 10-5 record. Bethany Burton won at number one singles, 6-1, 6-0, Jessica Walsh won at number two singles, 6-1, 6-1, and Peyton Bryant was victorious at number three, 6-1, 6-0. In doubles play, Alyssa Funkhouser and Jillian Turner fell at number one, 2-6, 1-6 while Zoey Sida and Gracie Myers won at number two, 7-6, 6-1.

Edinburgh's golf team was at Martinsville on May 17. They came away with a five stroke loss to the hosts, 191-196. Max Blandford was the match medalist, shooting a 37. He was followed by Mason Calhoun with a 52, Keegan Smith also had a 52, Trevor Moon 55, Devyn Milburn 57, Cash Cunningham 59, Wyatt Burton 61, and Devin Hamilton 67.

The baseball Lancers were on the road to Oldenburg on that same Tuesday. It was a rough one for the good guys as they fell in five innings for the second straight night, falling 12-2. Jarrett Turner and Riley Palmeter led the offense with two hits each and one of Palmeter's was a double. Travis Jones had the only run batted in. Turner suffered the loss in his four innings of pitching.

The varsity track team was off to Columbus North for Thursday's boys' sec-

Lancer Notebook

As a team they finished eighth out of the 12 teams competing. Individually, the Lancers were led by Jackson Hartwell who ended his night as the sectional champ in the long jump with a personal best, 21 feet 5½ inches. He also finished eighth in the 110 meter hurdles. Braylon Bryant had a seventh place finish in the 200 meter dash and an eighth place in the 100 meter dash. Edinburgh's 3200 meter relay team consisting of Cole White, Anduan Chavez, Brian Callejas, and Rylan Londeree finished eighth, the 400 meter relay team of Enrique Callejas, Brian Callejas, Bryant, and Hartwell came in eighth and the 1600 meter relay team of Enrique Callejas, Austin Brockman, Hartwell, and Bryant also brought home an eighth place finish.

Softball was back on the bus on Thursday evening, going to Monrovia to face the Bulldogs. The Lancer took an early lead and led through four and a half innings before giving up five runs to the hosts in the bottom of the fifth. They failed to score in their final two at-bats and lost, 6-4. Kyah Streeval was the only Lancer with a multi-hit evening with two. She and Alix Streeval each had one RBI. MacKenzie Bieker pitched a complete game, striking out 14 in the loss.

Baseball was at home facing Brown County for their last game at Lancer Field for the season on Friday. To start the evening, they finished a game that had been suspended from the beginning of the season in the fifth inning. They were able to end it in the sixth inning, winning 19-9. Riley Palmeter, Gabe Bennett, and Colin Richardson each had two base hits. Bennett had a double and Jarrett Turner clubbed his second home run of the season. Turner and Richardson knocked in three runs each, Bennett had two RBIs, and Palmeter and Landen Burton each drove home one. It was a winning effort on the mound for Bennett as he worked four and a third innings striking out 11.

In the second game of the night, the Lancers jumped out to an early lead and put the game out of reach by scoring seven runs in the fourth inning, beating the Eagles, 11-1 in six innings. Landen Burton had a pair of hits and Travis Jones hit his second home run of the year. Colin Richardson and Jones each had a pair of RBIs and Jarrett Turner, Burton, Gabe Bennett, and Nick Detling all drove in one run. Bennett was the game's starter and pitched three innings, giving up no earned runs and striking out seven. Ian Buchanan took the win in relief, pitching three innings, allowing no earned runs and whiffing four Eagle batters.

Lancer tennis had the unenviable task of facing a very strong Columbus North team in the North sectional on Friday evening. Unfortunately, their super season came to an end with a 5-0 to the Bulldogs. Bethany Burton, Jessica Walsh, and Peyton Bryant all fell in singles play and number one doubles Jillian Turner and Alyssa Funkhouser along with number two doubles, Gracie Myers and Zoey Sida were both downed.

Bringing the week to a close, the varsity golf team played in the MHC tournament at North Branch on Saturday. North Decatur was the team champ by shooting a 320 and the Lancers finished tied for second with Southwestern who each had team scores of 382. Max Blandford finished in fourth place in the tourney to earn a spot on the All-Conference squad. Along with Blandford's 81, Trevor Moon checked in with a 92, Devyn Milburn shot 101, Mason Calhoun 108 and Cash Cunningham 111.

Students display creative abilities in annual art show

This year's annual Edinburgh Community High School/Middle School art show was held May 11 in the library. There were almost 300 paintings, drawings and sculptures.

Top award ribbons were given to artists in recognition of their achievement in art. Attendees also cast their votes for their favorite artist, naming senior Kaidynce Harris as this year's high school winner and seventh grader Josiah Dyke as middle school winner.

This event is sponsored by Tri Kappa. Every year, Nancy West makes the show a hit by setting up a table with homemade treats and drinks for everyone.

"Her kind giving nature brings a sense of community to the show and represents Tri Kappa's support of art and culture," said Julie Gacsko-Morgan, art teacher and organizer of the annual show. "I really wanted to recognize what Nancy brings to the show. I thought the picture I took of her smiling at the two little kids who made themselves right at home at the serving table summed it all up. She brings such a positive energy and obvious love for our community. She's been representing Tri Kappa for over a decade."

Storm

said Dan Cartwright, town manager. "Two of my people who have been with the town for years said they've never seen anything this bad before," Cartwright said.

An EF-2 tornado that hit southern Johnson County and Brown County in June 2008 took an eerily similar path through the town back then, said Doyne Little, police chief.

This time power lines all over town were down, trees had fallen on homes, the town aquatic center was damaged and trees fell in the park and cemetery, Cartwright said. The new scoreboard that was just put up at Edinburgh Community High Schools' football field was also knocked down by high winds.

"It was either a tornado or some really hard straight line winds," Cartwright said. "It came straight down 252 from the west."

In the aftermath of the storm, many Edinburgh residents came out to survey the damage and help clean it up — regardless of whether it was their own home.

Edinburgh teen Brayden Cratty, 14, was at Edinburgh's Parks and Recreation building, and Trenton Schmidt, 15, was at his home near downtown Edinburgh when the storm came through. After the storm passed, the two went out to help clear fallen limbs from outside a home on Main Street.

The home wasn't their own, but the two wanted to help their neighbors, they said.

"The guy's not home, but we wanted to help clean it up," Schmidt said.

A few streets over by Edinburgh Community High School, student-athletes and their parents were examining the damage done to the football field. A scoreboard that was replaced earlier this year collapsed and was destroyed by the winds from the storm.

Scott Murphy, the father of an Edinburgh player, came to the field after seeing a social media post from the team's varsity coach saying the scoreboard had blown down. A lot of donations made the new scoreboard possible, so it was heartbreaking to see it destroyed — especially after the football team's success this past season, he said.

"Football had major success this year. It's really sad (the scoreboard) is down," Murphy said.

Cole White, 15, was also disappointed to see what happened to the scoreboard in the aftermath of the storm.

"It sucks that the scoreboard went down," he said.

White, who said he plans to join the football team next year, has been trying to help people with clearing up the trees and tree limbs that came down since the storm. He's walked throughout the area near the school seeing if people need help with the cleanup, he said.

"I feel bad for a lot of people with all the trees and stuff down," White said.

Just outside of town, Camp Atterbury was also damaged by the storm. The chapel at the Indiana National Guard base was heavily damaged, but the base is otherwise operational, said Lt. Col. Randi Bougere, communications director. Staff at the base is looking for an alternative location for church services, she said.

The was also significant damage in Taylorsville. Several homes were heavily damaged by fallen trees at a trailer park, making it the hardest hit area of Bartholomew County, according to a media release from county officials.

In the aftermath of the storm, southbound lanes of U.S. 31 were shut down in Amity and southbound lanes of Interstate 65 were shut down north of Edinburgh because of downed trees for several hours. With power out and roads impassable in some parts of town, Edinburgh officials also blocked off State Road 252 and other streets temporarily to give clean up crews room to do their work.

Side streets and county roads were also littered with trees and downed power lines. Utility crews, police officers, firefighters, county and town employees were cleaning up from the storm overnight and will continue to do so until order is restored, officials said.

There were so many calls during the storm that the Johnson County 911 Center and public safety agencies in southern Johnson County had a hard time getting resources organized, Sighting said. That's even after calling in extra dispatchers in anticipation of the severe weather, she said.

"Hopefully, we will learn from this and have a better plan in place for the fire response next time. They were going everywhere. They had no clue where to go because there was so much going on," Sighting said. "We are going to learn from this, because you always learn from these events."
